Langham Logistics Director of Operations to speak at 2009 Indiana Logistics Summit

INDIANAPOLIS (Aug. 28, 2009)--James Jelinek, director of operations at Langham Logistics Inc., will be speaking at the seventh annual Indiana Logistics Summit on Sept. 22. Jelinek will speak on the topic of "High Tech Distribution Centers at the 'Crossroads of America.'"

The Ports of Indiana and Purdue University have teamed up to host the event which will be held at the Indianapolis Marriott Downtown. The event combines industry officials from different sectors and brings them together to give professional and experienced opinions about ways in which to make Indiana's transportation and logistics industries more competitive in comparison to other states.

Jelinek holds a master's degree in human resource development from Clemson University and a bachelor's in aerospace from Indiana State University. He is a senior supply chain executive with over 15 years of experience in global supply chain and operations leadership, business development and strategic planning, acquisitions and alliances, ISO, Six Sigma Black Belt, and personnel, performance and operational advancements. Jelinek has held leadership positions for major manufacturers that include Ingersoll-Rand, Timken Bearing and Sony.
